

applerouth

BRIANNA

Brianna did well on the ACT, but she wants to push her score even higher for honors programs and scholarships. An expert tutor can help Brianna identify key areas for improvement and expand her options for years to come.

MADISON

Madison has struggled with test anxiety since entering high school. Her parents are looking for an understanding tutor to help Madison learn studying and test-taking habits that will build her confidence and raise her scores.

DANIEL

Daniel has overcome ADHD, dyslexia, and processing speed issues in his schoolwork, but standardized tests are a new challenge. He needs a patient tutor to teach the strategies that will help him manage his time on test day.

THE BEST TUTORING IS NEVER ONE-SIZE-FITS-ALL.

At Applerouth, we know that tests are less complicated than the students who take them. But challenges such as learning differences or test anxiety only stand in the way of success when they are ignored. That's why we train our tutors to address these issues head-on using methods crafted by our founder, Dr. Jed Applerouth. For over a decade, we've seen the power of combining the science of learning with a thoughtful, student-focused approach.